Sericulture

In the field of sericulture, Nuecare Agrovet provides scientifically formulated bed disinfectants, hygiene (mulberry) solutions, silkworm health-supporting products, and growth-enhancing supplements. These solutions help improve silkworm vitality, reduce disease incidence, and enhance cocoon quality and yield.

By maintaining a clean rearing environment and strengthening silkworm immunity, Nuecare Agrovet supports farmers in achieving consistent production and improved economic returns from sericulture practices.

Disinfectants

To ensure proper hygiene in rearing houses, equipment, and surroundings, Nuecare Agrovet offers effective disinfectant solutions. These products help control harmful pathogens, maintain a clean rearing environment, and reduce the risk of disease outbreaks.

They play a vital role in improving silkworm health, survival rate, and overall productivity.

Silkworm Nutrition & Health Care

Our nutritional supplements are designed to strengthen silkworm immunity and support healthy growth. Regular use improves cocoon development, enhances silk quality, and increases overall yield. These solutions help farmers achieve better performance throughout the silkworm rearing cycle.

Poultry & Animal Feed Supplements

Nuecare Agrovet offers scientifically formulated feed supplements for poultry and livestock, designed to support overall health, growth, and productivity. These supplements help improve digestion, nutrient absorption, and immunity, enabling animals to perform better under various rearing conditions.

Our solutions are suitable for dairy cattle, poultry, and other farm animals. Regular use supports improved milk yield, better milk quality, and enhanced SNF (Solids Not Fat) levels, contributing to higher economic returns for farmers.

In poultry farming, our balanced feed supplements help improve body weight gain, feed conversion ratio (FCR), egg production, and overall flock health. These products also strengthen immunity and reduce stress, ensuring consistent performance and sustainable livestock management.

Aquaculture Supplements, Agriculture & Horticulture

To ensure sustainable crop production and healthy aquatic farming, Nuecare Agrovet offers a comprehensive range of aquaculture supplements and agricultural solutions. Our products are scientifically developed to enhance productivity, improve quality, and support long-term sustainability.

Aquaculture

In aquaculture farming, our solutions help maintain water quality, support healthy fish growth, and improve survival rates. These products reduce stress, enhance immunity, and promote better feed utilization, resulting in higher yields and improved farm profitability.

Agriculture & Horticulture

Our agricultural and horticultural products are designed to improve soil health, strengthen plant growth, and enhance resistance to pests and diseases. These solutions support better nutrient uptake, improved crop quality, and increased yield.

By promoting balanced nutrition and sustainable practices, Nuecare Agrovet helps farmers achieve consistent performance, higher productivity, and long-term agricultural success.
